WOOL TEAMS AT A RAILWAY STATION

LL7779

TUCK'S POST CARD

CARTE POSTALE. POSTKARTE.

Wool Teams. The wool, after being removed from the sheeps' backs, is carefully sorted and baled and conveyed by various modes to the coast towns for sale and shipment to all parts of the world. Probably the most general method in use is to take the bales on bullock wagons to the nearest railway station, whence it is expeditiously carried to its destination.
